The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Founded in 1963, The University is forward-looking bilingual institution of higher learning. The University now has four constituent colleges. The University currently has an enrolment of over 12,000 students. It offers over 170 undergraduate and postgraduate programmes through its seven faculties: namely, arts, business administration, education, engineering, medicine, science and social science.

President’s Review

The year 1997 - 98 has been dominated by active reaching out on the one hand, and conscientious introspection about the University’s strengths and strategic objectives on the other.

To reach out is both a need and a responsibility. We need to reach out so that we know the latest developments in the world of learning and share the benefits of new discoveries with partners around the world. We should reach out to contribute our knowledge and expertise to good causes and show that we care.

Over the past year, the University has been reaching out to the local, national, and international communities with vigor and persistence.

Locally we proactively forged more linkages with secondary and primary schools as well as other education institutions.
